Sunday, 21 January 2007

If you're not totally jazzed about this Sunday's episode of 'I'm From Rolling Stone', you should be. We're talking serious reality-show-grade drama. Russell risks it all, Pete enters self-imposed rehab and Tika has a meltdown—all in twenty-six minutes! Tune in, or at the very least keep up with our episode guide.

And as if that wasn't exciting enough, we've announced the finalists in this week's 'I'm From Rolling Stone' writing contest. See if you made the cut and come back Monday at noon for the third assignment!
